

ABSTRACT

A method includes updating record content included in a database, extracting updated record content during a periodic time interval, producing an internal document that includes data representing the updated record content, producing a file that includes data corresponding to 5 content of the internal document, and sending the file at the periodic time interval.

20728591.doc